Sub: Participation by Community Medicine Department in verification of Sub-national claims for 'TB Free' status in India

Dear Sir/Madam,

Greetings from ICMR-NIE!

Government of India has resolved to end Tuberculosis (TB free) in India by 2025. To achieve that goal, the Ministry of Health & Family Welfare, Government of India has developed a sub-national TB free certification process. An important step in the sub-national TB free certification process is validation of claims of reduction in TB incidence at District/State/UT level.
As per the decision by Central TB Division, Govt. of India, National Institute of Epidemiology (NIE), ICMR has been identified as the independent verification agency for Sub-national certification of TB elimination efforts along with Indian Association of Preventive and Social Medicine (IAPSM) and World Health Organization (WHO). This year, TB free claims have been received from 67 districts, 1 state and 2 UTs.

Department of Community Medicine of your esteemed institute has been assigned this validation exercise along with other stakeholders in the district where the Medical College is located or the allotted nearby district (list enclosed). The faculties & PG students have to train field teams, undertake supervision of field work, verify secondary data, conduct qualitative interviews and submit a report. All expenditure will be borne out of the budget provided for this purpose by CTD to IAPSM.

You are requested to kindly consider the period of their engagement in the verification process in the month February & March 2021 as 'on duty'.

Thank you and with regards,

Sincerely,

[Dr. Manoj Murhekar]

DERMATOLOGY PRACTICAL & CONCEPTUAL
Latest Issue · November 2019
Highlights from the Editor-in-Chief

The double open-access DPC journal is the IDS' official journal and we have recently introduced the tradition of having our Editor-in-Chief, Prof. Giuseppe Argenziano, provide our members with a brief and critical introduction to the latest issue, which was published in October 2019.

We are happy to highlight some very interesting papers appearing in our latest issue, which contains quite a nice number of review papers, research articles and beautiful letters concerning special cases observed by our editors and IDS members.

First, we have a beautiful article written by the Bologna group which is very passionate about hair disorders. They have compiled an excellent study on alopecia areata incognita and diffuse alopecia areata showing how dermoscopy can be helpful in their differentiation, since distinguishing them clinically can be difficult.

The second paper we would like to mention is an observational study on the dermoscopic and histopathological correlation of eccrine poroma. As you already know, eccrine poroma is a great simulator of many tumors, so by getting to know more about these tumors we will become more skilled in the diagnosis of these benign tumors.

The third paper is an amazing review paper by Sidharth Sonthalia et al. with an update on the expanding indications and future prospects of dermoscopy. The paper highlights the application of dermoscopy in the fields of general dermatology, inflammatory diseases, infectious diseases and more. So, we can proudly say that the dermoscope has truly become the dermatologist's stethoscope.

Finally, we would also like to recommend another review article called "Sun exposure: beyond the risks". It speaks of the positive effects of sun exposure on a variety of health conditions. Sun exposure has proven to be beneficial for lymphomas and other cancers (e.g. pancreatic, prostatic, colorectal and breast cancer), arterial hypertension and many more other diseases. The paper concludes that moderation in terms of sun exposure should be recommended instead of strict and total avoidance.

For more information, follow us on our social media pages (Facebook and Twitter) where you will be informed on a regular basis! Until the next issue, we hope you will enjoy our latest one!

Warm regards from the DPC team,
